MAKING WAGON ROADS IN IDAHO TO GET AT THE MINES.

The High Price of Smelting Interferes With New Mexican Enterprises—Activity in Some Mexican Mines—The Anneosda Copper Mine Expected to Resume Work, IDARO CITY, Idaho, Oct. 16.-The County Commissioners of Bolse county yesterday appointed viewers to lay out a wagon road from Garden Valley to Deadwood. Such a road, although the route is a circuitous one, will be of much benefit to the county, as it will enable machinery to be taken in, and give the farmers of the valleys a chance to market their produce. By the construction of this road not adwood is reached, but access will be easy to Bear Valley and the Sheep Mountain and Seafoam mining districts, which contain some of the largest and richest mines in the State. At present only one section-Seafoamcan be reached by wagons. The road that leads to it is from Ketchum, on the Wood River branch of the Oregon Short Line Railroad As it passes over the high mountain at the ad of Wood River travel can only be had six or seven months in the year, and much of it is marshes, making it very difficult to haul machinery over it. Notwithstanding this, a taken in and will soon be running. A wagon road connecting those districts with the southern portion of the State will do more than all other things combined to open up those great mineral districts of central Idaho. Heretofore capital would not invest in them because machinery for their development or working could not be taken in. A law authorizing the Governor to appoint a Commission to look out a route for a State wagon road through this section, connecting north and south Idaho, was enacted by the legislature last winter. It is now so generally seknowledged as a great public necessity that will provide the means for its construction at as early a day as possible. The Washington, in Gambrinus district, has been closed down, and will not resume working until machinery for reducing the ore from the argentiferous vein is erected.

the Washington, is turning out to be a great and rich, while the porphyry is thirty feet wide, with seams of rich quartz running all through it. It will pay handsomely to mill as Ben Salomo has discovered and partially developed a 150-foot porphyry vein near the head of Moose Creek, in Golconda Gulch. Like the East Gambrinus and Pioneer mines, the latter a regular dividend-paying one, it is filled with thin stringers of rich quartz, and tofore these immense porphyry ledges had not been prospected, and it is very encouraging to find that they are mines that will, when machinery is erected, become paying ones. Large find that they are mines that will, when machinery is erected, become paying ones. Large bodies of low-grade ore are now looked on much more favorably by mining capitalists than small rich ones.

The addition of ten stamps to the De Lamar twenty-stamp mill in Owyhee county will double its capacity, and many other improvements are going on, such as putting in pans, settlers, &c., so that ore can be treated as rapidly as reduced to pulp.

The work of covering the ditch that conveys water to the Mountain Queen twenty-stamp mill at Pioneer is about completed. Crushing will be resumed in a short time, and continued without cessation through the wintor.

Moriarry Brothers have their saw mill on Elk Creek running, cutting lumber for their Boulder quartz mill. Most of the machinery for the mill is on the ground. The mine is opened at good depth and the mill will run continuously from the time it is completed.

S. K. Goldtrap and S. C. Bowen will commence work on the Grimes Creek bedrock flume in two or three weeks. The work at present will be confined to the digging of a ditch with a capacity of 1,500 inches of water.

A contract has been let for a 240-foot upraise to connect the lower cross-cut tunnel with the upper workings of the Black Jack at Silver City. The contract calls for the completion of the work within ninety days. When the uppar workings of the Black Jack at Silver City. The contract calls for the completion of the work within ninety days. When the uppar workings of the Black Jack at Silver City, has resumed crueling, and excavating for twenty more stamps is going on.

The Poorman, on War Eagle Mountain, near Bilver City, is yielding very rich ore, the first grade of which is shipped to Denver for reduction.

SILVER CITT. N. M.. Oct. 20.—Skillikorn & Snyder, owners of the Pacific No. 2 mine at Pinos Altos, are now working their ore in the Mammoth mill at that place. Although they are restrained from working certain portions of the mine by an injuction, they can take out ore enough to keep the mill running on full time.

Mammeth mill at that place. Although they are restrained from working certain portions of the mine by an injuction, they can take out ore enough to keep the mill running on full time.

M. M. Miller, one of the locators of the Alhambra mine, has commenced work on the Twoomy mine at Black Hawk, and says that the prospects are good for the discovery of as rich a body of silver ore as was found in the Alhambra mine at that place.

The smelters at El Paso and Socorro now have on hand more ore than they can handle, and are refusing ore from this section. All the mills and works here are running on full time, and more ore could be had if there were facilities for reducing it.

There is talk of putting up a large smelter at Albuquerque, which is well located for a large plant. It has the advantage of direct railroad communication with the largest coal regions of the Territory, and is the only available point for a smelter which has direct communication with the Gallup coal fields on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. Thousands of tons of ore are shipped from this Territory to Colorado smelters annually for treatment, which might be smelted at Albuquerque or some other point in the Territory if there was a plant of sufficient capacity to treat the ore at reasonable rates. The rates for smelting ores in this Territory are now about double what they were six months ago for the same elass of ore, and as a consequence the production of the mines here is much smaller than it would have been if the rates had not been advanced to such a high figure. One mine in the Pinos Altos district which produced nearly a million pounds of ore per month during the summer, is now closed down because it could not be operated at a profit after the last advance in the rates for smelting ore. All the other mines in the Pinos Altos district which have been operated to any considerable extent this year produce milling ores, and, ensequently, are not materially affected by the advance in smelting charges. It is likely that most of the mills in thi believed that it will develop into a silver and gold bearing mine as the excavations are car-ried deeper into the ore body. The Mazanel believed that it will develop into a silver and gold bearing mine as the excavations are carried deeper into the ore body. The Mazapel Copper Company is operating four copper mines in that district. They are the Aranzasin. San Carlos. San Antonio, and La Abra. This company has a Ub-ton smelter now in operation and is erecting a new smelter of 150 tons daily capacity. These mines are now producing copper ore running high in silver and gold. producing copper ore running high in silver and gold.

A large amount of ore is being taken out and shipped to the two smelters now in operation here from the mineral districts adjacent to Monterey. At the Nueva Leon smelter five furnaces are now in operation. They are smelting 250 tons of ore per day, and each week 4.000 bars of buillon are shipped to New York and Liverpool. The ores used by this smelter are obtained principally from Villaidama and Catoree, on the line of the Mexican National Hallroad.

The smelting industry of Monterey, notwithstanding its wonderful development, is still in its infancy. The crection of the Guggenheim smelter, which is to be the largest in Mexico, has only just commenced, and the other two works here have been in operation only a few months.

has only just commenced, and the other two works here have been in operation only a few months.

There is great animation in the mining work of the State of Hidalgo. The Cueva Santa and Benjamin mines, in the Arenai district, have been denounced for abandonment. In the Milagro mine, which was about to be alandoned by the owner, a vein has been cut that gives ore with thirty-five cunces of silver per ton. A Mexican company has been formed in Ures, in the State of Sonoro, with a capital of one million of dollars, to explore the rich gold placers of La Clenega and Los Lianos. The richness of these placers, which are now abandoned, is beyond dispute.

The famous opal mines of Ricardo Klein at Slasmaise have produced nothing for the past two months. The miners are hard at work in the breechia and may strike a bonanza at any moment, as the opal-bearing rock seems to run in streaks.

The State of Michoacan is a great mining country, gold, silver, copper and iron being the principal products. Coal and quicksliver are known to exist, but have not yet been found in really paying quantities. The gold, silver, and copper mines yield very abundantly.

Gen. Trevino of this city will soon begin Gen. Trevino of this city will soon begin work on the new silver mine owned by him-self and friends. This property is on the Samaulipas estate, on the line of the Monterey and Mexican Gulf Rallroad, about 120 miles southwest of here. The ore will be brought to the Monterey smelters to be reduced. The mine is a very rich one. The capital of the company is $100,000. The directors are Gen. Trevino, E. Madero, Antonio Hermandez, and Gen. Olivares.

A strong company has been organized to work the San Filipe de Jesus mine in the district of Pachuca. It is an old mine that was formerly worked by an Englishman named John Taylor. While it was producing large quanties of ore it became filled with water, and it was impossible to get it out. The mine has since then drained itself in consequence of the tunnel of the Real de Monte Company passing about a hundred metres below the works, which reach to a depth of 120 metres. The ore is in sight and is abundant. The mine promises to turn out one of the best producers in the district.

THE ANACONDA MINE TO START UP AGAIN.
BUTTE CITT, Mon., Oct. 21.—Within the next ten days the famous Anneonda copper mine will be in full operation. Last spring the mine shut down. Two reasons had been given for this. One was that Haggin, believing that he owned and controlled the bulk of copper in the world, closed down in order to corner it. The other reason was that the railroad which runs from Anaconda over to Butte, a distance of twenty-five miles, had concluded to charge Haggin, its owner, a rate for conveying the ore from the mine at Butte to Anaconda and returning the product ready for market from Anconda to Butte. This Haggin would not consent to, and he closed the mine. It is now said that within the next ten days 2,000 men will be put to work in the construction of a new line from Butte City to the smelters. This done, a new road will be built from Boise City, the intention being to extend it ultimately to the Pacific coast. THE ANACONDA MINE TO START UP AGAIN.

Tucson, Ari.. Oct. 17.—The Southwest Silver Convention will assemble in El Paso, Tex., on Dec. 15. It will consider prohibiting the foreign capitalist from holding property in the Territories, the admission of lead ore, and similar subjects.

Looking east from Yuma, sixty miles, a square topped mountain is seen. It is called Castle Dome, and from it is derived the name of the mining district. The principal mines of the district are the Arkansas and Flora Temple, Pocahontas, Rairond, and Cleveland. Harry Nevin, an old Arizonian, and one of the best prospectors of the Territory, located the American mine a year ago. It is virtually an extension of the Cleveland, and the development to this date is a ten-foot shaft exposing a ten-inch vein of solid metal, averaging seventy, per cent. of lead and thirty ounces of silver.

Adjoining the Castle Dome district on the east is the Silver district. It is one of the richest mineral sections in the Territory. Among the good mines is the Clip mine, which paid its owners a profit of $30,000 per year for several years until the price of silver depreciated to such an extent as to require suspension a few years ago. The ore lies in such a manner that it can be extracted at a small expense. The Albertamine, adjoining the Clip, is reported as a regular bonanza. This property with its extension, called the Expectation, owned by Taylor McLeod, will be developed in the near future. It is asse, ted that the Silver district has yielded at least 500 per cent, more than the amount of money that has been expended in it. If this is a fact it is well worth mentioning, as few districts in the country can make half as good a showing.

The Mammeth Company made their usual

The Mammoth Company made their usual shipment this week, one bar valued at $6,000. Two weeks ago they shipped two bars valued at $9,000. They will average $30,000 per month, and when they get their new machinery in, twenty new stamps and new pans, they will largely increase this amount. If they increase their milling capacity to 200 stamps and place the millat the mine, instead of five miles away, the yield will be enormous and the cost of production will not be materially increased.

THE STAIR BOARDING GAVE WAY. Mr. and Mrs. Kelleher Both Fell, and Mrs.

It was reported in the neighborhood that the death of Mrs. Kelleher of 141 Ferry street. Long Island City, was the result of a row at her home a week ago Saturday. It was said that she either fell or was pushed down some stairs, and that she sustained a concussion of the brain.

She and her husband Jeremiah lived in the second story of the house. Between 139 and 141 is a narrow alley and some stairs on the outside of the house leading to their rooms. The stairs are enclosed with thin boards. The stairs are enclosed with thin boards. The stairs are enclosed with thin boards. The husband went home rebuilt 11 o'clock a week ago Saturday night. His wife told him to come into the house and he refused. He pretended, he says, he was going down stairs to the street. His wife tried to force him into the house. They struggled good-naturedly and she finally caught him by the laps of his coat. He leaned back against the side of the stairs and bruced his feet against the house to resist her. The thin boards against which he was leaning broke, and he and his wife fell into the alley. They struck on the cobble stones with which the alley was paves!

The noise aroused Kelleher's sister, who lives at 134, and she found Kelleher sitting on the foot of the stairs and his wife lying unconscious a few feet away. She was bleeding from a wunnd on her head. Dr. P. McKeown of 130 Third street dressed Mrs. Kelleher's wound, and on Sunday morning she was removed to St. John's flospital. She died on Thursday morning of concussion of the brain. Kelleher was severely bruised about the snoulders and has been confined to his bed.

Coroner Meiners will hold an inquest. 141 is a narrow alley and some stairs on the

The French Admiral Attends Mass on Shore. The congregation of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul in West Twenty-third street is largely composed of French people. The church was therefore crowded yesterday morning in honor of the presence of Admiral de Cuverville of the Naiade, the French-man-of war now in this port. He was accompanied by his staff. The priests had been informed beforehand of the visit, and high mass was celebrated, accompanied by an unusual musical programme. Admiral de Cuverville, Aide-de-Camp Secres, Commandant Kaje, Lieut, Lejay, and M. Jules de Cuverville, son of the Admiral, sat near the front to the left of the chancel. The officers were in full uniform. The Abbé Darrieux, chaplain of the Naiade, was the celebrant, the Rev. William J. Smith, S. P. M., as the celebrant, the Rev. William J. Smith, S. P. M., acting as deacon, the Rev. Mr. McLaughlin as sub-deacon, and M. A. Gallaud, S. P. M., as master of ceremonies. The Rev. G. Settler, S. P. M., preached the sermon in the French language, preceding it with a few words about the Admiral and his staff. Mmc, J. L. Feuardent, the organist and director, and a large choir carried out a musical programme. The soloists were Mrs. Finn, Miss Campbell, and Mr. J. A. Walker. Cuverville of the Naiade, the French-man-of MONTEREY, Mexico, Oct. 17.—A new and very valuable vein of ore has recently been discovered in the Rosario silver-lead mine about twenty miles from this city. The assay of the ore gives the following result: Silver, 27.05 ounces per ton; lead. Sils per cent.; Iron, 14.16 per cent. The present value of this ore at the smelters here is $50.05 to you as about distance south of this city, has been temperarily suspended in order that the construction of an aerial tramway of 700 metres in length may be completed. This tramway will connect the railway, 250 meters long, in the mine, with the wagon road of thiometres, in length, which leads to the National railroad.

Philip Cohn, the proprietor of the copper mine Las Animas, at Conception dei Oro, in the State of Coahulia, has arrived here to spend several weeks. He has been operating the mine one month, and has already extracted more than 200 tons of ore. He has opened three fronts—one of fourteen feet, one of twenty-sour feet, and one of twenty-seven feet. The ore runs all the way from 5 to 63 per cent.

AMERICAN METHODISM.

Celebrating the 125th Anniversary of Its Foundation at Old John Street. The John Street Methodist Church celebrated yesterday the 125th anniversary of the founding of their church organization, which was the starting point of American Methodism. The morning services consisted of a love feast led by the Rev. Dr. J. M Freeman, followed by a sermon by the Rev. William Gorman of Belfast, Ireland.

The afternoon platform meeting was pre sided over by Bishop E. G. Andrews. The Rev. Thomas Bromage of Glossop, England. President of the Wesleyan Reformed Union: the Rev. William Arthur, the Rev. Mr. Halland, an English Wesleyan minister; Mr. J. H. Lile of Hastings England, and the Rev. F. G. Howell, pastor of the John Street Church, were on ell, pastor of the John Street Church, were on the platform and took part in the services. In front of the pulpit was an enormous floral piece with the words "Welcome Home" on it. Last evening there was a prayer meeting, led by the Rev. Dr. W. H. De Puy, and a sermon by the Rev. E. Lloyd Jones of Rhyi, North Wales. This is the first anniversary service in the history of American Methodism, which has been attended by preminent English Methodists.

Total Loss of Their Hay Crop.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.-Fires in the Wisconsin River bottoms and those rivers tributary to the Wisconsin have caused heavy losses to the farmers living along the rivers. Charles Hazeltine of Mazomanie, who owns about 20.000 acres of marsh land in Dane, Sauk, and Icwa counties, says most all of the hay grown on his land was destroyed by fire. He has leased the marsh in small parcels to farmers, and those placing almost sole de-pendence for hay on the marsh are in desperate pendence for hay on the marsh are in desperate straits and will be obliged to sell their cattle at whatever they will bring. Mr. Hazeltine estimates that 50,000 tons of hay have been destroyed in southern Wisconsin alone. Along the Wolf River and its tributaries marshes have burned out and farmers were unable to save the hay which had been sacked in them. In many places the fire is still burning. Stock can be purchased at almost any price along these rivers, tame hay having been a failure on account of the drought.

Alden Fales Kills Himself.

Alden Fales of 37 Sixth avenue. Newark, died at his home yesterday of the effects of a dose of laudanum which he took on Saturday evening in Joseph Holmes's saloon in Belleville avenue. He took two ounces in two coses, and, becoming very sick, was taken home by a policeman. He died yesterday morning. He took the poison after a quarrel with his wife, who says that he has been acting strangely for several weeks. Fales was 45 years old, and for a number of years he had been in charge of an elevator in the Clark Thread Works. He leaves eight children.

COWDREY'S RUNAWAY WIFE. Domestic Trouble that Regan on Their Wedding Tour Three Years Ago,

WARRPIELD, Mass., Oct. 25 .- Mr. Waldo E. Cowdrey, Democratic nominee for Senator in the Sixth Middlesex district, has been forced to quit his hunt for votes the past week and go out on a hunt for his wife. He found her in New York yesterday, where she had been detained by the police in response to a telegram from the deserted husband, who said that she was demented and incapable of looking out for herself. It is understood that Mrs. Cowdrey's departure was the car-rying out of a long-cherished scheme to break away from her marital bonds and re-turn to ber mother in Shrewsbury Park, a suburb of St. Louis. It wasn't the first time she had run away, either. She has been Mr. Cowdrey's wife three years, and she has run away from him three times. The first time she left him was three days after their marriage, while they were on their wedding tour. A despatch from New York says that a reconciliation was effected, and that Mrs. Cowdrey was returning home with her husband. Her friends in this town say that the truce is but temporary, that Mrs. Cowdrey will not live with her husband. and that the separation might as well take place at one time as another.

This domestic trouble took place last Thursday. It has been browing for a long time. To begin with, their marriage was a mating of June and December. Mr. Cowdrey is said to be 50 years old. His wife was 26 when they were married. She did not love him. Her Mr. Cowdrey, so she told her neighbors in Wakefield. She was very outspoken in her bitterness over her married life. "I only married lim to get rid of him," was her frank confession. When rebuked for entering into such a serious obligation with such a flippant spirit, she would reply:

ried him to get rid of him," was her frank confession. When rebuked for entering into such a serious obligation with such a flippant spirit, she would reply:

"Well, if you got two proposals a month for a year you would have done the same thing?"

The married life thus begun has not been a very happy one, and this week's escapade has not been unexpected. In fact, Mrs. Cowdrey openly boasted that she should leave her husband as soon as she could get her furniture away without his knowledge. She had planned to make this separation flual, and insisted upon taking away half of the furniture as her share of their worldly goods and possessions. For several days she was on the watch for a favorable opportunity to escape from her husband, and on Thursday she skipped. She took with her her baby boy and her dog Gyp. The furniture is said to have been shipped to New York by steamer. Mr. Cowdrey is bookkeeper at the South End National Bank in Boston, and on Thursday he nosandoned a close watch which he is said to have been keeping on his wife. That was just the chance she was waiting for, and, after securing an expressman to carry her furniture, she took an early train for Boston, and was making good time for St. Louis when detained by the New York police. She bade one or two of her friends good-by, and assured them that she was off for good.

Mrs. Cowdrey's maiden name was Helen Pope. Her home was in a suburb of Kansas City. She moved in the best society and had plenty of admirers. Despite her size—she is only live fact tall—she weighs in the neighborhood of 175 pounds. Her education was completed in Boston. She studied music and painting, and displayed much ability in both accomplishments. In the summer of 1857 she mich Mrs. Cowdrey's only pleasant recollection of the event was that her husband fully understood her feelings toward him before she married him. There was a swell wedding, but Mrs. Cowdrey's only pleasant recollection of the event was that her wedding ourney. Mrs. Cowdrey's only pleasant recollection of the e

NOT CURED ENOUGH TO LAND. Teresa Runs Against the Law Excluding

Consumptive Immigrants, Teresa Lawrence, a young dressmaker who came here from Germany on April 19, 1800. before the law excluding immigrants with consumption went into effect, called at the Barge Office and asked to be returned to Germany. She told Dr. Newborn that she was going to Berlin to told Dr. Newborn that she was going to Berlin to put herself under the care of Dr. Koch. This was about a year ago. She returned yesterday on the steamship Columbia, ten pounds heavier than she was when she went away. She said she had been discharged from a hospital in Berlin as cured. The Barge Office physicians examined her, and said that she was still suffering from the disease, although in less aggravated form than when she went to Berlin. She will be sent back.

Arrested for False Registrati on.

James Farley registered at 3 James slip on Saturday and Thomas F. Harrington, a Republican challenger, caused his arrest. In the Tombs Court yesterday Harrington told Justice Divver that Farley had said that he lived at 357 Water street, and on being questioned had given his address as 354, and then as 350 and 300 Water street. Harrington testified that at the station house Farley had said he was born in Philadelphia, and had afterward was born in Philadelphia, and had afterward denied this, and said he was born in New York. Farley denied everything. He said that Harrington had asked him questions, and he not knowing who Harrington was, had told him to mind his own husiness. Farley was then arrested. Harry Wilson of 357 Water street testilied that he was Farley's employer, and that the man had lived in his house for several years. Justice Diver lectured Harrington severely and discharged the prisoner. James O'Connor, who says he lives at 358 Water street, but who doesn't, that number being a vacant lot, was also arrested at 3 James slip. After being challenged O'Connor ran away and was caught by Harrington, who caused his arrest. O'Connor was slightly intoxicated, and the Justice committed him for examination to-day.

The Congregation Fifty Years Old. The First German Evangelical Church in Schermerhorn street. Brooklyn, celebrated yesterday its fiftieth anniversary. When organized the congregation had only a score of members; now it has more than 900, and is members; now it has more than 1900, and is rapidly increasing. The original home of the congregation was in a hall in Fulton and Cranberry streets. In 1845 the Schermerhorn street site was purchased, at the services yesterday there was a reunion of the old and present members of the church. The Rev. John Loeb, the pastor, delivered a historical sermon in the morning, the children had a celevation in the afternoon, and in the evening addresses were made by the Rev. E Richter and the Rev. E Kralling.

The Christian Endeavor Convention

Yesterday was the third day of the fifth annual Convention of the Christian Endeavor Union of New Jersey. The Convention is being held in the old First Presbyterian Church in Newark. The registry shows that 1,369 delegates have attended the Convention. There are 472 societies in the State. O. this number 40 are juniors. There are 18,612 active members and 5,802 associates. The Rev. G. S. Sykes of Beverly has been elected President. The Convention adopted orange and black as the State colors on Saturday, and the badges will be of orange with a black bar across the centre. in Newark. The registry shows that 1,309

THE DEBARRED CONTRACT LABORERS. The Action of Superintendent Weber Justi-fied by the Federal Court.

Superintendent of Immigration Weber is highly pleased with the decision given on Fri-day last in the United States Circuit Court by which he will be relieved from further trouble in the enforcement of the Alien Contract Labor law at this port. The court sustained his construction of the law, which has often been challenged during the present year. and gave orders that the thirty Italians whose case had been brought before it be debarred from the United States and sent back to the port from which they came on the proved to the satisfaction of the court that they had come to this country under contract to labor, in violation of the act of Congress excluding immigrants, and, though their con-tract was not a "complete and enforceable contract." it was clearly within the terms of that act.

excluding immigrants, and, though their contract was not a "complete and enforceable contract." It was clearly within the terms of that act.

Superintendent Weber will now proceed with the application of the law as he has sought to apply it ever since he took charge of the immigration business at the Barge Office; and his action is not likely to be again brought before the courts by steamship companies or by padrones or other labor contractors. He believes that it will yet be possible to put an end to the business of bringing alien contract laborers to this country, and in doing so he will seek to secure the cooperation of the superintendents of immigration at all the ports of the United States. Several of the steamship companies have promised to refrain from further opposition to the law and labor contractors are becoming discouraged in their efforts to nullify it. Advices have been received here that a comprehensive method of dealing with the whole subject will be prepared by the Immigration Commissioners who are now in Europe.

The duties of the contract labor inspectors will be simplified under the decision just given. They must of course have the evidence to sustain their action in every case of debarment, but they now have the ndvantage of being able to tell the exact nature of the evidence that is required.

As to the other cases, under the law before the Federal courts in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, and Massachusetts, there has not yet been any decision given. The most intoresting of these cases is that of the contract tin plate workers brought here from Waises for the service of the Niedringhaus Holling Mills in St. Louis. An important question is involved in this case, which has just been laid before the Grand Jury there. Mr. Niedringhaus freely admits that he brought the Welshmen to this country under contract but he claims that he had a right to do so under that clause of the law of 1885 which authorizes the importation of contract laborers cannot be obtained in this country. Mr. Niedringhaus feels so

THE HEAP WILL CASE SETTLED. Thirty Nephews and Nicces Will Now Have $15,000 for Division.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn., Oct. 25.-The remark-Windham county courts twice, came before a few days ago, but the third trial of it had not proceeded far when the litigants, assisted by seven able lawyers, settled it amicably. There were a small army of witnesses in the court room, who came from all parts of this State. New York, and Pennsylvania. The testator, Mrs. Eunice R. Heap, who resided in this town, died on June 4, 1887, aged 85 years. Her estate was estimated to be worth nearly special to him. With that inauspicious opening the married of the Cowdreys has not been a very happy one. Mr. Cowdrey never made any complaints to the neighbors. His wife did all the talking. They could agree upon nothing. Their tastes did not hurmonize. The neighbors were not much surprised therefore when Mrs. Cowdrey never not much surprised therefore when Mrs. Cowdrey nothing. Their tastes did not hurmonize. The neighbors were not much surprised therefore when Mrs. Cowdrey and have surprised therefore when Mrs. Cowdrey had been gone a year Mr. Cowdrey went after then. Intending never to return, but she did after he had promised all sorts of reforms. Up to that time Mr. Cowdrey had never ill-treated his wife The worst hing the neighbors could say against him was that he was very close in money maters. But last month there was a family scene, according to Mrs. Cowdrey's statement, in which Mr. Cowdrey pushed her out of the room, using some force in sc doing. From Mrs. Cowdrey's was justified in doing as he did. Mr. Cowdrey was justified in doing as he did. Mr. Cowdrey was justified in doing as he did. Mr. Cowdrey was justified in doing as he did. Mr. Cowdrey had been planning to run away. Her husband knew of her intentions, and secured leave of absence from the bank to watch her. They broke up housekeeping two weeks ago and stored their intentions, and secured leave of absence from the bank to watch lances she would have skipped when the furniture was moved, but she wouldn't leave without that. The neighbors of the ill-mated couple say that Mrs. Cowdrey's each with a condition to the present networkers when the single instance above referred to.

the Rev. Dr. Talimage in the winter of 1885 attracted great attention.

A couple of years after their marriage a separation occurred, and, about a year ago,
Mrs. Barnum obtained a divorce in Florida, and, returning to Brooklyn, was married to Frederick D Condit. Mr. Barnum subsequent ly brought his suit for absolute divorce, and a decree was granted by Justice Bartlett, his wife making no defence, with the exception of presenting the Florida decree. Mr. Barnum's second wife was a widow.

Congregation Beth Elohim's 80th bunt

The congregation Beth Elohim, the leading Jewish society in Brooklyn, celebrated its thirtieth anniversary yesterday in its fine synagogue in State street, near Hoyt. It was the holiday of Sinchas Thora, or the commemoration of the giving of the commandments to Moses. At the morning service tablets, on which the Ten Commandments had been inwhich the Ten Commandments had been inscribed, were carried around the auditorium by members of the society, and the Rev. Dr.
Gottheil Tauberhaus, the rabb, delivered an historical address.

In the evening there was a banquet and a ball in Saengerbund Hall, which was attended by ten of the eighteen original members of the congregation. Addresses were made by Rabbi Tauberhaus and some of the officers of the society. The congregation is an offshoot from the Beth Israel congregation and is one of the most liberal Jewish societies in Brooklyn.

A DOG PRISONED IN A MINE SHAFT. He Is Kept Alive by Ment Thrown Down to

BELVIDERE, N. J., Oct. 24 -Four weeks ago a bird dog belonging to Andrew Shultz fell into an old mine on Mine Hill. Though the shaft was deep, the dog seems to have escaped with no serious injury. During the past month he butcher has thrown down to him, though there is some mystery as to where he gets water to drink. Old miners say it is worth a man's life to rescue the dog. He is a young dog, with a good constitution, and if fed right along may live there many years. He barks cheerfully every time any one approaches the mouth of the shaft.
